

We hope you enjoy Galeria Aniela monthly electronic newsletter. Recently we had the pleasure of hanging a delightful still life exhibition by Pamela Griffith, one of the 50 of the most collectable Australian artists (Australian Art Collector, issue 35). The exhibition "Spring Flowers and Still Life Paintings" was opened on Saturday 9th September by Anne Maria Nicholson Australian National Art Reporter ABC TV. A large number of guests arrived in the rainy weather to celebrate the occasion with Pamela.

Ms Nicholson talk how important is to support the arts for our culture, the general good of our society and our inner self. She said that

The paintings display well in the friendly environment of this lovely gallery set in a sculpture garden bursting with spring blooms. Some of the opening guests included Richard Morecroft, TV news presenter and Julie Webb, oriental textile expert, Eva and Ben Osvath, potter and sculptor, and many art lovers. The exhibition continues to the 8th of October 2006.

she enjoy opening an exhibition of top quality art.

Pamela Griffith has had a distinguished career encompassing many areas. She has consistently exhibited still life paintings that have graced the homes of many Australian and International collectors. These works delight for their brilliant colour and excellent composition. Her strong and vital personality comes out in the work. Pamela has eschewed fashion in art and kept to her main purpose to create classic works that continue to delight from one generation to the next. Her motto is to live a quality of life, be sincere in relationships and care for the environment so her work has a ring of truth about it.

Pamela Griffith book "Australia, an artist's journey through the landscape" has been published as a limited edition leather bound book accompanied by a beautiful etching. This book is on display in the gallery. The stocks are going as collectors respond to what is probably the most sumptuous book of its type produced in Australia. For those who want an excellent gift for Christmas, and any occasion. The standard edition cost only $70 and is available from the gallery.

Pamela Griffith is leaving for nine weeks to continue the work on Point Reyes, Mt Tam, Tennessee Valley, the Marin Headlands and the city of San Francisco and further down the Peninsula to Palo Alto (Stanford), San Jose.
